

Corruptious strikes of thunder preying down
The do-boding footfalls appeared,

Angered wind whistled down on towering lamp posts
The voracious roars assembled,

Splashes of lethal waves barrelled over each other
The eyes towered over,

Debris violently recoiled from tremendous lightning
The light faded away,

Ink, black clouds covered the warm sun.
This was no mans' land.

Giant balls of melting rock crashed through the roofs of peaceful homes
The meteor shower was an infinity of pain.

The Storm

A deafening silence came like a flash, rain bounced off the crisped up leaves.
The wind rattled from miles away,

The sky went dark and the thunder grew.
Lightning brutally shook the land,

The storm determinedly grew one element after the other,

Then everything became stronger.
The waves came violently over the wind banging the clouds,

The water crashed down alarmingly knocking boats over.

The trees cackling, as the storm brews up outside like a delicious liquid beverage being poured on your head.

The rain falling fast as fury, a mighty streak of lightning covered the sky biting the leaves off all the trees.

Water bouncing away from the fury, wet and delightfully smelly coat of a medium sized animal that cackles to scare others away.

The wind signaled to the other elements
Then it began,

The gloomy, foreboding clouds herded together

Suffocating the sun's warm glow,

Peace was long forgotten As thunder trumpeted followed by its children,

The stampede of rain fell into formation Hot rain smashed craters into the mirrors surface,

Lightning followed the orchestra of sounds ending the storm of nightmares with a sound of no hope.

THE OCEAN'S CLAWS

The dusk clouds gathered in herds
A windy mist roared menacingly,

Orange lightning poured violently from the black clouds like liquid, Claws of rain fell as fast as fury like an army of intimidating animals.

Ocean waves grew larger and larger as if they were preying on their victims, Gnarling sounds came from the rushing wind, biting at the burnt branches, sucking them into its swirling vortex.

The rain sprouted up and down from the sodden shores as the blood curdling screches from the atmosphere danced in the air, travelling through the extreme mist.

Stripes of light illuminated the darkened the land as the elements signaled to each other.

The murky clouds sufficated themselves as if they were hiding behind the trees once the war had been won.

The Crab Squid

The dark, ominous lightning shattered the sky as it dangled down,

The inky rain slowly put him to rest as he dropped like a stone to the bottom of the sea,

A bone chilling screech as the frightening thunder alerted the whole area,

The illuminated, unsettling eyes loomed over him as he sank way down into the dark abyss,

The great storm

The wind howled to the stars and lightning bit the trees with great force knocking them over,

Clouds darkened into a thick, black, fog forming the sky into the smoke of a mighty fire!

A deer shaken viciously by the predators having a feast on their life time,

Lightning struck as if the mighty Thor arose from the heavens,

Waves collided, lightning struck, Thunder screamed The storm grew deadlier and deadlier there was no hope.

The big bad pouring darkness sky was raining in the big sea!!!
The dark big clouds was firing with bangs and thunders and and lightening and a huge Jinormo's Storm!! The long dark trees were shaking like on a drink of water being shaken around. the lightening was like a splat into a big ^{purple} swimming pool.
The The trees was like a snake @ skidding supper!!
Fast like supper!!! fast!!!

The sombre sky violently thrashed the sodden shores
The deafening silence bellowed,

As lethal as the thunderous roars
The destructive lightning crashed down like a predator hunting for it's prey,

Crash! A sharp rise of precarious waves clawed in a drowsy accent desolating anything in it's path,

The fierce gusts of wind screamed silently with a roar pushing against it's menacing, shaggy tail,

Foreboding footfalls of rain shattered down igniting the vicious sparks of fire.

Shocking storm!

The wind slapped the trees as the thunder bites Splash,

Trees bobbing up and down in the vast sea, bang,

Each game of whack a mole the objects get bare like a phurrana is there,

Circling round me scales pricking me I am next,

My foreboding dreams come true,

My skin peeling thunder as orange as a watsut it feels like pumkin guts dropping,

Gasping for air like an old car braking down,

Thunder hit a pool of blood gathered well at least thats what I thought after pins dug in my leg.

The haunted howl

The wolf howled like a gush of thunder, His shaggy coat soaked with stormy sea water,

The storm, smacked down heavily like hailstones gushing down,

Everything was sacrificed because of the unexpected unhaled storm,

The howl was heard like a impatient intruder hunting for robbery,

The storm snarled while sneaking suspicious robbery.

The trees swept from off the ground as soon as the storm bit them off by their roots,

The storm roared as it cleared its path like no man's land,

The foreboding, footfalls of thunder shook the sodden land as the lightening grew louder and louder,

The storm scratched every cavern as everyone screamed loudly,

As the lightening purred the clouds grouped up and created a dull, dark abyss.

The thunder bites like predator on it's prey
The footfalls of thunder shake the ground
The packs of clouds assembled

The lethal rain spraying back up as quick as sound
The deafening thunder came down
The wind getting quicker and quicker like raptors, like the lightning communicated to the other elements

The wind and ocean working together creating a tsunami
The blood moon flickered looking like it came out hell.

The wind howled to the other elements
The pack howled with it,

The rain smacks down on the damp grass
The glimpse of the moonlight slowly dissipated into the dark gloomy clouds The rain dripped down as the lightning poured out of the black clouds,

The lightning roared like a fierce lion as the wolves bonded.

Lightning flashed down as the moon began to flicker.

Ocean waves viciously smashed down on the dark sea like a whirlwind.

The ocean calling to the other elements,

The thunder bites like a lion feeding on its prey.

The pack howled as the full moon disappeared behind the horizon.

The sunset came

The storm had stopped and the wolves went to the cave.

The wind was howling fast as fury with the strike of lightning the same color as your pet's color. The scorching rises the waves are making. The tickling feeling the pain feels like a hair from one of your howling pets. The rattle from the thunder like on pet with an angry roar.

The wind pushed me with the extremely large waves as it howled. As I hit the solid water the waves was soothing me on my back. The waves was hardly to be seen when they was heard rocks coming from the sky in to my warring eye's. The lightning came down as fast as jet engine glowed up the sky as it split the water. The pack started to assembled as the sky was stand black as still. The water clared me down as the wind howled.

The wind howled.

The wind wagging amongst the trees.

The thunder violently barked.

The waves clashing together like a airstrike raining down.

The rain coming down as fast as a minigun getting shot.

The thunder was like a dog barking, as the rain came quickly as a dog running to its owner.

A rousing with clouds was making the sky dark as a dog falling to sleep with a mighty loud bark like they were.

The rain fell fast as a mighty battle between a dog and a human.

The clouds was as dark as the black night and the rain tapped the dog as fast as a raging black bull about head in to you as the storm got worse like a dog barking for its food.

The thunder and rain, was scolding the land as the rain was quickly came down like a missile hitting a siskin cat.

The wind howled
The trees wagged in the wind,

Rain hit the water with a 'splash'
The thunder barked violently,

Bright lightning sparkled like a star
In the dead of night
As the waves smacked against the ocean edge,

The thunder bit the alone fish which was floating above the sea

The wind roared and the rain slaverd,

The lightning slashed the trees into a million peaces,

Foreboding footfalls of thunder and lightning shoud the earth,

The wind fling the deadry into the aybis

A blazing forist fire that could be seen from miles away.

The Wind roared like a Tiger
Celling to the other Tiger's

The rain came down fast as fury like a Tiger striding it pray.

The wavy sea crash agant the rocks like a pack of Tiger's hunting.

The hail bash on the floor like the Tiger's pray.

The wind roared throw ear to ear and out!

The lightning struck like a preaker on to it's back.

The rain fast as lion chasing a zebra.

The clouds darkness day in centures and stamping down black lightning struck as thunder banged

The waves sharp as claws scratching its victim.

The storm broke out as the pack lions joining for bait.

The lightning clouds rapidly thundered like roaring.

The rapid claws shaking the ground like hail.

Fire waving through the darkness of the clouds.

The darkness slawry wavy rainy night.

The elephant loudly lightning thunder like the fiery clouds.

The roaring lightning thundering waves fiery waves.

The rapid waves are Gigantic fiery waves.

The rainy stormy cloudy sneezing cold night.

The windy haily cold night.

The wind went rapidly up and down over the churning waves,

The lightning smashed the waves it felt like hail falling on bricks

The waves swept of like a dog raining the tears on the roaring waves,

I felt like I was being hit by concrete and smashing waves came to war with me,

I felt stuck inside the waves like the shivering, lightning kept me there until I was too cold to escape.

The freezing temperatures hit me like a ice bug trying to escape the waving water

The enormous storm.

The thunder wiped the trees like an enormous tail.

The pack assembled.

The waves pulled him in like a stone Sinking to the bottom of the sea

Rain fell fast as fury It hit the ground and repelled like a damp, shaggy coat being shook violently.

Foreboding footsteps of thunder was shaking the ground as though it was separating the ground.

The earth shakes violently as though a pack of fox's following their prey.

Roaring Wind I was shivering, darkness in the clads.

The lethal stampedes bonded together to create a perfectly dangerous battle.
The thunder wailed out in agony.

Gales yelled throughout the gloomy grey sky.
Bang! Detonated bullets of aqua drizzled down to the soaked grove.

Red acidic liquid poured out from the deadly, pitch-black herd of clouds, Fearsome footfalls crept behind their devilish enemy.

Showers of gleaming knives sunk into the whip-creamy sand, Motionless statues lay in horrific pain.

Lightning struck as fast as fury just like a dangerous predator murdering their prey.

The mortified team surrendered.

The cats storm

The rain clawed onto Micheals face like a ferocious cat, savage rain pounced onto the beaches surface,

The dim, dusky clouds that gathered in front of the moon were a black cat discreetly roaming the earths crust perfectly mysterious,

The first strike of thunder sounded like a deep purr waiting to be comforted. Thunder interrupted the clouds in their nap as a signal it was time.

Lightning paused for the right time to strike at its prey, Vigorous lightning spilled out of the sky like a cats milk being severed,

The sand sharply bounced away from the bullets of blue.
